

“Learn how to OUTSMART, OUTWIT, and OUTSCORE your opponents in less than 20 hours” - DeBenedictis

John DeBenedictis - Course Director and Instructor

DeBenedictis introduced his Secrets to Goal Scoring topic to coaches in Canada in April of 2003. He received such rave reviews for his unique teaching techniques and detailed information in the goal scoring session that he was welcomed by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) to be one of the guest speakers at their convention in the USA. The NSCAA hosts the world's largest annual soccer coaching conference with coaches attending from all over the world. He presented more than once at that convention and had the honour of speaking after Brazilian World Cup Champion coach Carlos Alberto Parreira. "It wasn't easy following Parreira who had won the 1994 World Cup. I'm a Canadian talking about scoring goals in soccer. We're known for our hockey", said DeBenedictis.

The record crowd didn't disappear as they were captivated by the powerful and unique information presented by DeBenedictis. He blends sport psychology, human visual and muscular perception with his unique soccer facts in teaching players how to score. Having coached for over 35 years, DeBenedictis holds the distinction of being the only Canadian born coach to speak to over 1,000 soccer coaches at any coaching conference in the world.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree majoring in Health and Physical Education with an advanced Certificate of Coaching. He has done extensive studies in human body movement, visual and muscular perception, and sport psychology. "Human motion and perception make up a big part of my techniques but combining that with facts, sport psychology and my experience as a goalkeeper is what makes it uniquely different. It's taken hours and hours of reviewing and analyzing tapes, to build the course. I've had to piece all the psychological and scientific information together so that athletes can understand the concepts", said DeBenedictis

DeBenedictis may be a pioneer in his work on the topic especially since he brings it down to an individual level. "I try and connect with each player one on one and teach the course as though I'm only working with one player at a time. Even on the field, I structure all the exercises so that the player can go home and work on their skills on their own or with a friend

The course DeBenedictis has put together is referred to as 'The Secrets to Scoring Goals'. "Yeah, that's what it is in a nut shell. Secrets that goalies such as I don't want the player to know and likewise, the best goal scorers in the world also don't want anyone to know because they don't want the next player to take their job," said DeBenedictis. "This was one fact I continuously ran into when studying the mental makeup of some of the best goal scorers which was very evident," he said. "I have quotes from some of the world's best strikers in my upcoming book and course, some of which I've had the pleasure of meeting but they have all been very apprehensive about giving away a secret."

Q) How does the regular rate of the Golden Goal Scoring Course compare to other programs?

A) The course works out to about $25.00/hour for players, which is not much different than what players pay for academy programs of the same length. The difference is that the Golden Goal Scoring Course is done over 3 days instead of spread out over 15-20 weeks. Because of the nature of the course and powerful messages that are delivered, it must be done intensely over a short period of time to be effective for the long term. The results will be amazing because at the end of the course, players will remember a lot of what was presented for the rest of their lives.
